

Oneiric Inventory

*In architecture
each angle is an angel*

Peering upward, we compass the ceiling of the WAAC's west corridor, taking an inventory of thirty-three past and unbuilt architectural angles. Fabric, light, and projection give substance to our supple memories, creating an angelic ceiling of possible junctures and intersections for our imagination.

El Lissitzky, 6 tales with easy endings (1921-22)