

GRAND OPENING OF THE MUSEUM OF EVOLUTION

You and a guest are invited to the grand opening of the Museum of Evolution.

On Tuesday, June 13th, we will officially open the doors to some of the world's rarest, most complete, and precious fossils of dinosaurs and other prehistoric creatures.

In Denmark's first dedicated dinosaur museum, you can experience a fascinating, multisensory exhibition that makes our shared evolutionary history accessible and relevant to both families with children and enthusiasts alike.

The museum houses the real skeletons of different dinosaurs, animals from the Permian period - the time before the dinosaurs - as well as a range of large animals from the Ice Age.

Meet, among others, the world's best-preserved Allosaurus, the largest skull of any creature that has ever lived on Earth, and what is often termed the world's most important fossil. The latest news will be revealed at the Grand Opening.

The museum is located in beautiful surroundings in Knuthenborg Safaripark.

Tuesday, June 13th, from 12 pm to 2 pm. A light lunch with accompanying beverages will be served in the outdoor area behind the Museum of Evolution in Knuthenborg Safari Park.

The day will feature speeches and a guided tour by CEO Christoffer Knuth and the museum's paleontologist, Anna Øhlenschläger.

We would be delighted if you could join us in the opening of the Museum of Evolution along with many other guests from home and abroad. Please respond by June 6th via email: blf@knuthenborg.dk.

You are welcome to enjoy the many other attractions of Knuthenborg Safaripark before and after the opening.
